the last letter we had from her said she might go to Marthas that they think the altitude at La Junta is too high for her I do not know if Bruce expect to come this summer they visited Georgianna home in Wilkinsburgh a short time ago but that is not near as far as this Wallaces all all well Some at school the rest at other work Jean has three weeks school has the promise for next year May 8 I did not get my letter finished it was so warm it made me tired got a letter from Nannie today she does not seem to be getting better gets some better then gets a back set but hopes to go to Marthas where the Altitude is lower Guess we send this letter to Agnes and Margaret and Bruce I understand the Sage Brush and Cactus is nearly all plowed up all the way to Colorado

← possibly Nannie's daughter, Martha (Bruce) Corbett — see p. 1766 see p. 1763 Georgiana (Carpenter) Bruce — CABB's daughter-in-law.

May 8

Nannie

19

Agnes, Margaret and Bruce are probably the three siblings of Jean Bruce Tinker who were alive in 1934. see p. 1914; the "Bruce" in question could be the brother of Agnes & Margaret & Jean; they could have called him "Bruce."